

One Child Policy - Pros And Cons

Pros	Cons
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Helps reduce the burden of every other social-economic problem – a lesser overpopulated nation means less pollution, less disease, less competition, consumption, less social unrest, and greater freedom of wealth, prosperity, equality and equity for all to enjoy. [20]</li><li>• A stable, healthy, prosperous and sustainable China is good for the world and for China – A sustainable, China is a peaceful one that is more empowered to lead the world and help achieve unity and one new world order in the coming interesting and uncertain times. [21]</li><li>• Boosts China's world ranking – lower population increases GDP per capita and lessens the wealth inequality disparities.</li></ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Aging Chinese Population – senior citizens population will become disproportionately large in numbers compared to younger adults. [22]</li><li>• Gender Imbalance – more males vs female (ratio imbalance) may cause social problems – but “natural selection” may resolve this on it's own and actually be beneficial to the gene pool. [23]</li><li>• Lack of Family size freedom – urban families that do not qualify for exemptions will not be able to have as many children as they wish.</li><li>• Perceived by Western Media as “lacking social freedom / human rights” – and often used by Western leaders as bargaining chip against China in trade negotiations.</li></ul>
